Joseph Rawson Thanks WDAM TV for posting the statute! Any person who reads this statute can easily make a determination that is apparent that this property is earmarked to be disposed unlawfully. The person conducting the sale must hold office. The sale must take place at a designated place, on a designated date, at a designated time. It is unlawful for a private person to conduct the sale. It is unlawful to conduct the auction entirely online, without said auction being conducted simultaneously in the above described manner. Any member of the public may bid on the property, rather than the municipality considering only bids from persons with special privileges. This is a good opportunity to discover how well the Hattiesburg City Council ac

Christopher Wilkes I don't think the city should benefit from property it has seized. Auction it to create space but donate the proceeds to the children's shelter.
